The call from the sisters to the council:

Leader: What is it that you ask of these sisters whom you have called to leadership?

Sisters: Sisters, do you accept the call to loving service through the ministry of leadership in the Central Pacific Province of the School Sisters of Notre Dame?

Council Elect: With God's grace and your support and participation, we do.

Sisters: Will you strive through prayer and dialogue, to promote unity within the province and the congregation, calling forth leadership potential and encouraging each sister to recognize her gifts?

Council Elect: With God's grace and your support and participation, we do.

Sisters: By your words and example, will you call us to creative fidelity to Christ and to living our Constitution, You Are Sent?

Council Elect: With God's grace and your support and participation, we will.

Sisters: Thanks be to God!

Affirmation by applause!

The Call and Commitment from the Council:

Council: Sisters, together we are called to live the Constitution of the School Sisters of Notre Dame. Our government is based on two interrelated principles, the vital participation of all members and the exercise of authority.

Are you ready to participate fully, joyfully and responsibly with us in the governance of the province for the life and mission of the Congregation?

Sisters: We are.

Council: Are you ready to call forth the leadership potential of one another as a means of forwarding the gospel and our constitution?

Sisters: We are.

Council: Sisters, we are impelled by the urgency of our times to imagine innovative possibilities for spaces and resources; for prayer, for community and for ministry in the spirit of Blessed Theresa and Mother Caroline.

Are you ready to address the future together, embracing dialogue as a way to move forward in harmony, joy and prayer, holding all in common, risking everything with an open, generous, creative and engaging heart for the sake of the mission of Jesus Christ?

Sisters: We are.

Council: Then let us continue our efforts to “deepen the contemplative and prophetic dimensions of our lives by grounding who we are and all we do in the love of the Triune God.”

Let us pray: Most Holy God, set us on fire for the Redeemer's mission. Give us what we need to be faithful to the call to make one. Help us in our resolve to embrace dialogue as a way of life. Favor us with the wisdom to know what is essential. Help us understand the meaning of holding all in common so that we may direct our resources and ministries toward transformative education. Expand our world view beyond our needs. Help and guide us to promote the legacy of our mission and charism as School Sisters of Notre Dame. Bestow on us graces which surpass our imagination and imbue us with the vision, courage and joy to transcend ourselves in order to be worthy of your call. Amen.

Prayer of the Faithful:      Sung response: O God, hear us; hear our prayer.
