

All the Works

evenly

v.1 All true works of God proceed slowly, painfully through the years, shadowed by God's loving hand, hidden from our eyes.

ch. Therefore their roots are sturdier to hold through wind and storm; therefore their flowers are lovelier than human hands can form.

v.2 God's dreams for us come silently through darkness, sure as dawn.
Our longing hearts will be satisfied; God's perfect time's not gone. (ch.)

v.3 How patiently, how silently all hearts that love will rest-Watching, wond'ring as God's plan unfolds to show them blest. (ch.) © 1990 Mary Heyn
